

Requests for advice relating to companion animals

Please note that occasionally information requested by the public is not always available in a format the RSPCA can supply without the disproportionate use of staff time and effort. Therefore, as a charity funded entirely by voluntary donation, the Society is not always able to provide a detailed response to all the enquiries it receives. We will always note any concerns brought to our attention and should, at some point in the future, the issue become the subject of wider animal welfare interest or concern we will investigate the matter in greater detail and publish the results.
